

Gabriella Martinelli

Gabriella Martinelli Gabriella Martinelli has been labeled "a one-woman cheerleader for the Canadian film industry." With more than 20 years experience, Gabriella is the strategic and creative drive behind Capri Films, a Toronto-based production and distribution company with Canadian roots and an international perspective. Gabriella directs the company's broad range of quality feature and television productions. Her credits include Baz Luhrmann's Romeo & Juliet starring Leonardo DiCaprio; David Cronenberg's Naked Lunch, M. Butterfly, and Dead Ringers; Clive Barker's Nightbreed; and the documentaries Journey to Enlightenment, on the life of Buddhist spiritual leader Dilgo Khyente Rinpoche, and Getting Gilliam, a documentary by Vincenzo Natali about renowned director Terry Gilliam. Gabriella's most recent film, Terry Gilliam's Tideland, is set for release this October by Capri Releasing.
